

MEDICON
POLIKLINIKA BUDĚJOVICKÁ
WAITING ROOMS
TEAM 02_TEAM ROBERT

Robert Čvirk, Daniela Berkule, Sara Sulollari, Jan Meier, Eva Kažukolovaitė, Vadim Kriat

ARCHIP

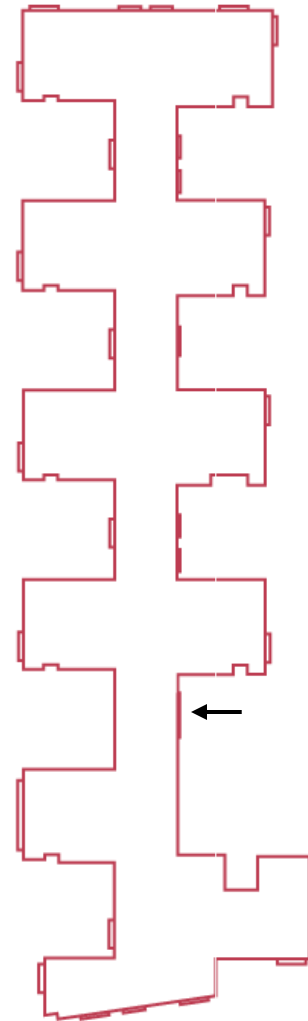

5th to 9th Floor Waiting Rooms

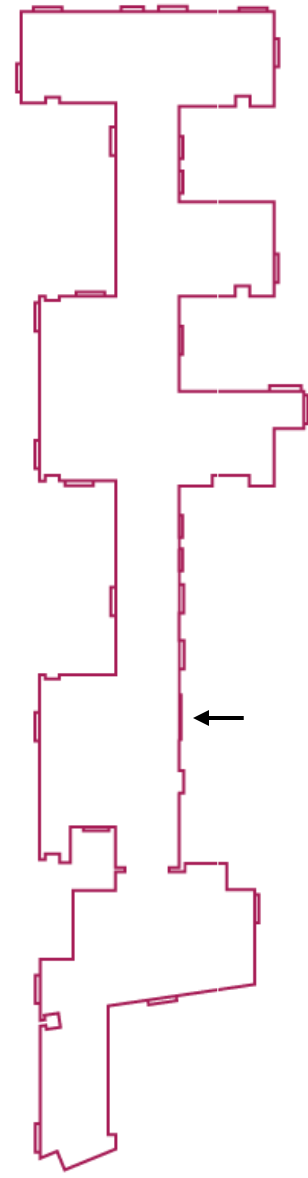

5th

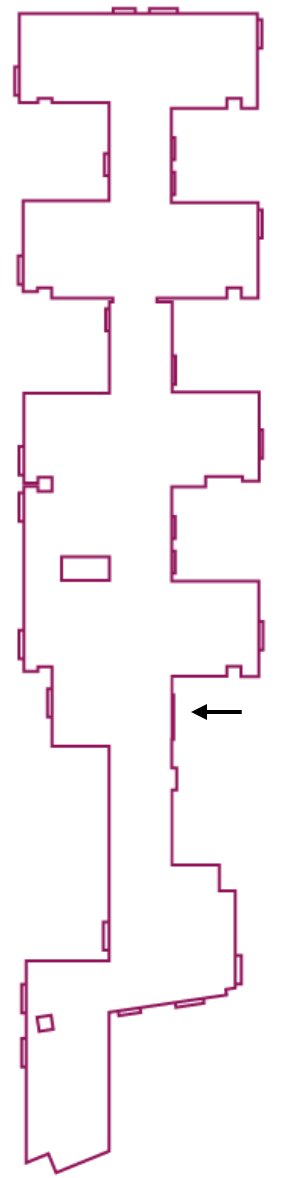

6th

7th

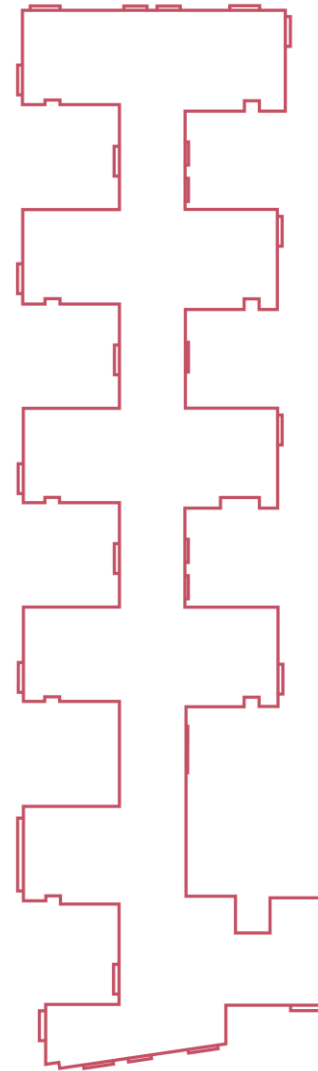

8th

9th

Floors:

Common Characteristics

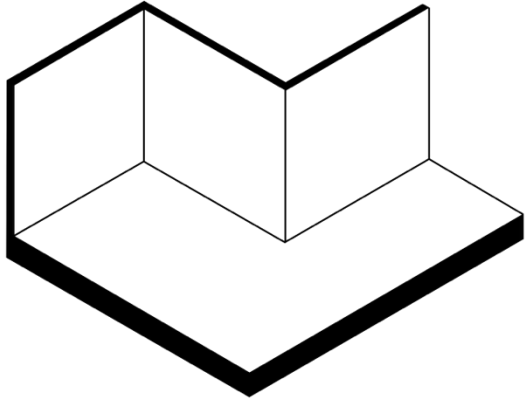

1. Long, narrow central corridor.
2. Doors in the corridor.
3. Repetitive waiting bays on each side of the corridor.
4. Limited space overall.
5. Many weird corners, niches in the walls, load-bearing columns in the hallway.
6. Similar wall types.

Floors:

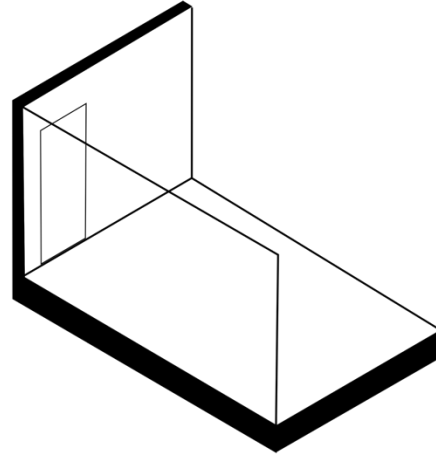

5th + 6th + 7th + 8th + 9th

7th

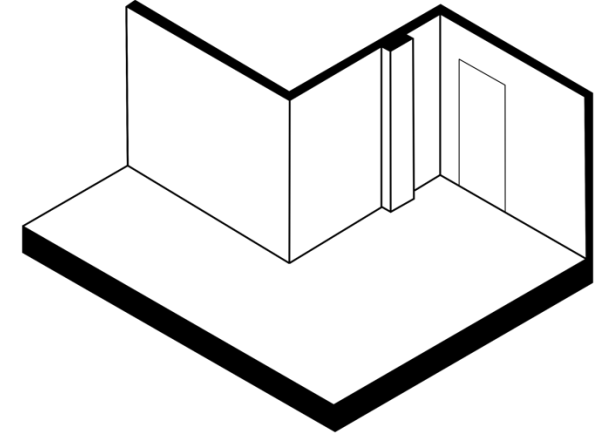

Intersection types

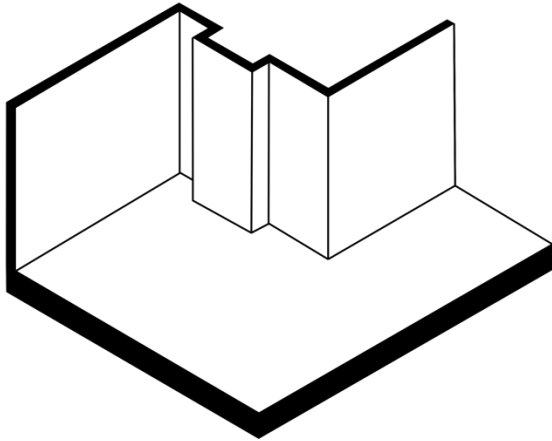

A. Blank + Blank

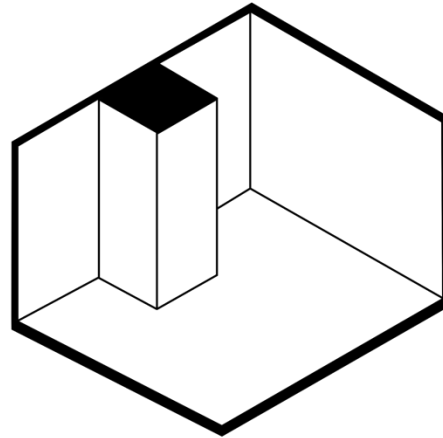

B. Blank + Doors

C. Niche + Doors

D. Niche + Blank

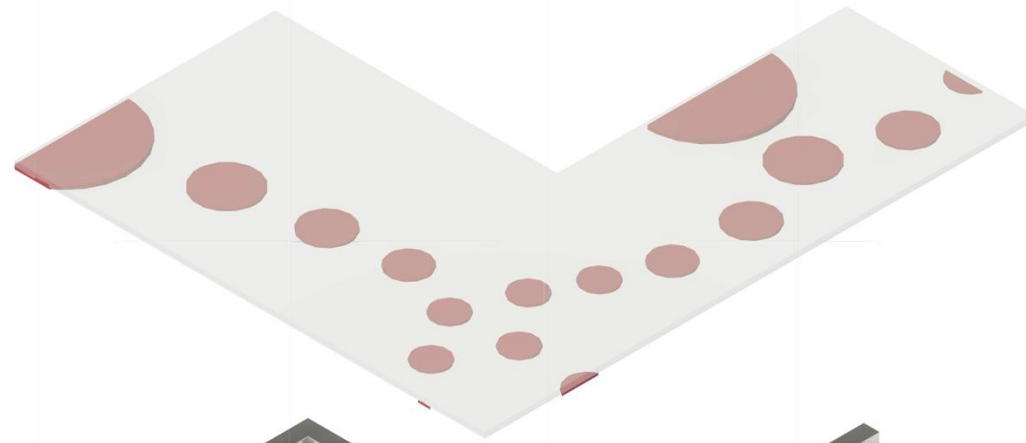

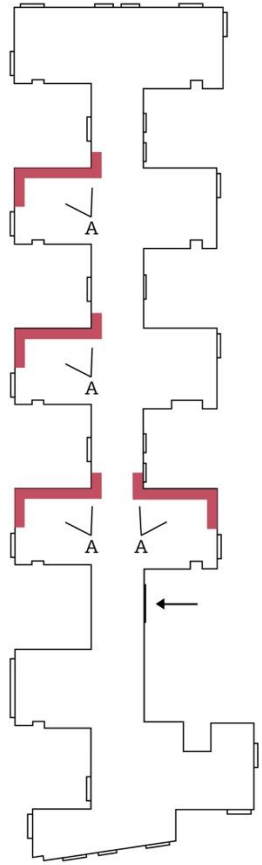

E. Hallway Column

F. Reception

Wall Intersection A

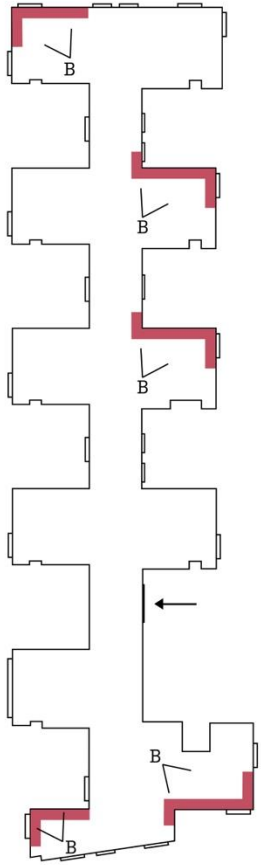

Blank + Blank

Flooring
Epoxy

Wall Intersection B

Blank + Doors

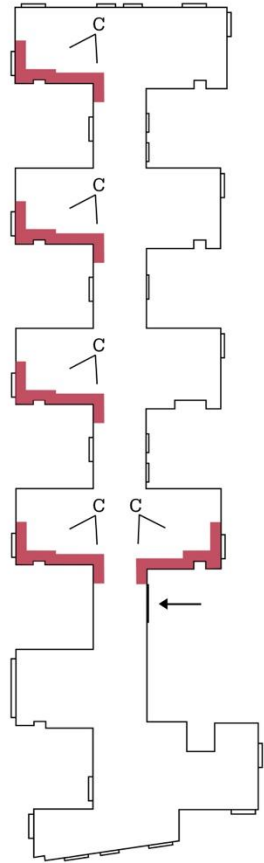

Acoustic ceiling
Cement-bonded wood wool panels

Linear lighting
LED 3000K to 4000K

Wall Intersection C

Niche + Doors

Wall

Acrovyn protection + color-matched corner guards and ant-bacterial acrylic paint

Sanitizer

Wall Intersection D Niche + Blank

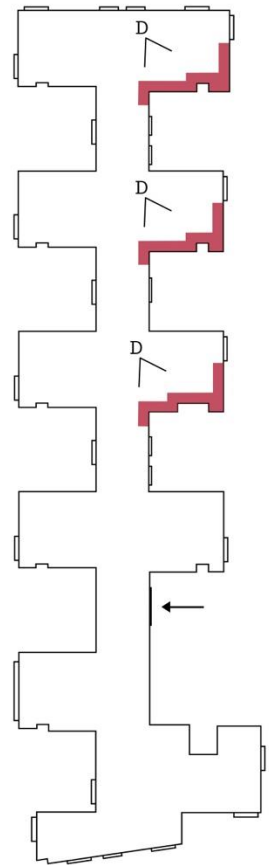

Table
Stainless steel

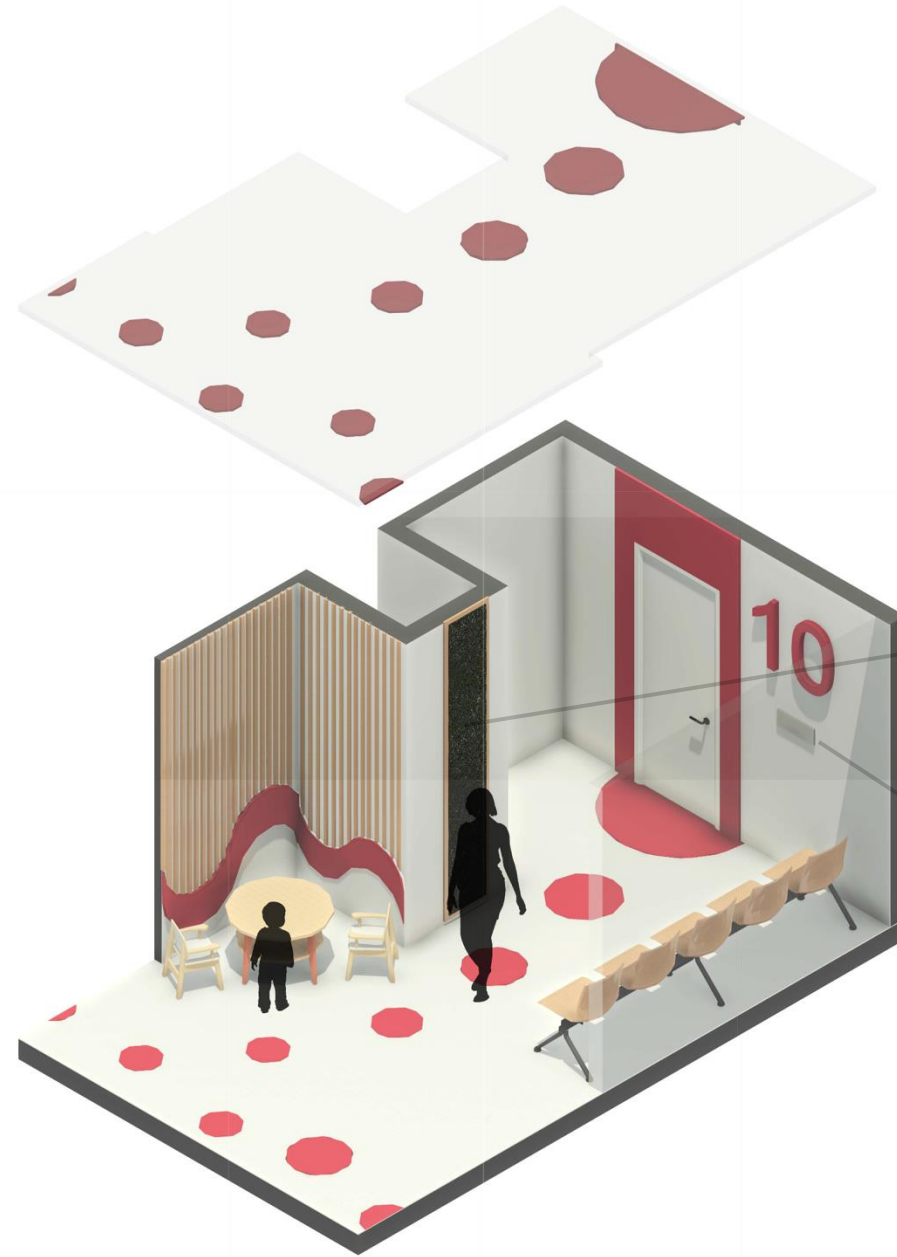

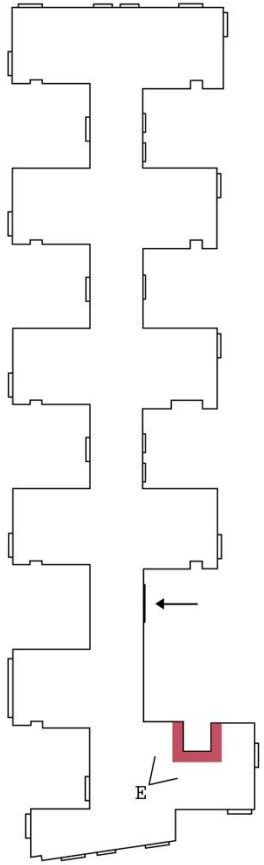

Seating
Oak wood, stainless steel

Seating
Leather upholstery,
stainless steel

Wall Intersection E Hallway Column

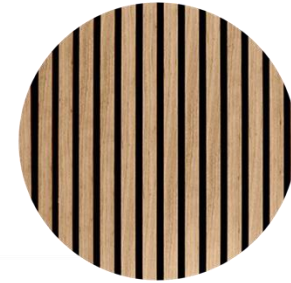

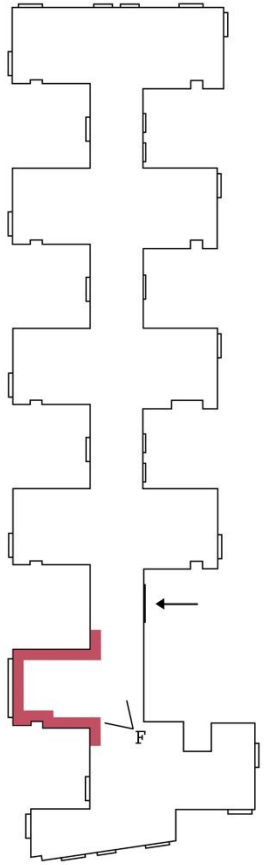

Wall decoration
Dried moss

Braille sign

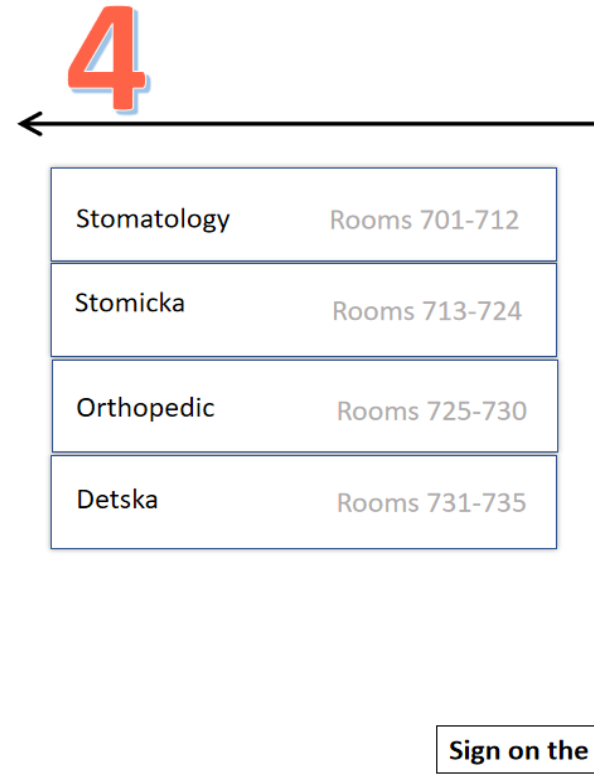

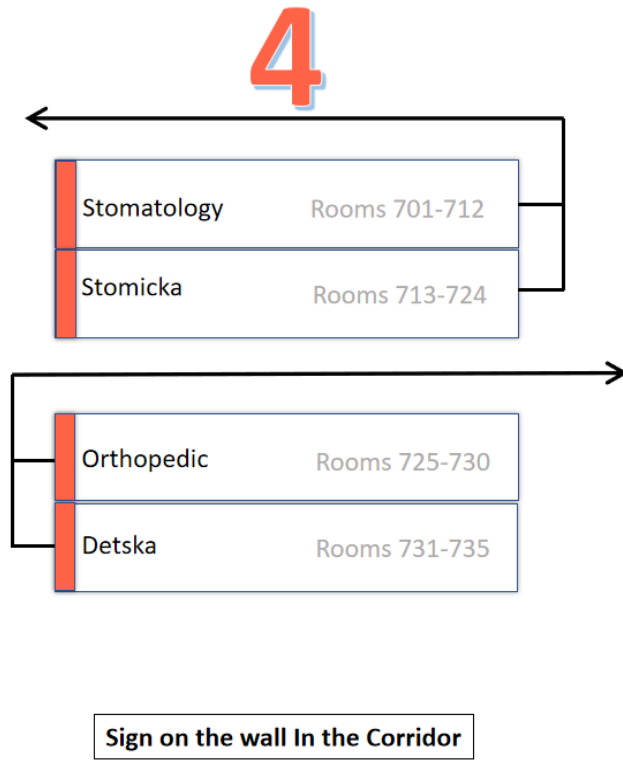

Wall Intersection F Reception

Wall decoration
Acoustic wooden panels with hooks

Waste bins
High-pressure laminate

An orientation App can also be developed to complement the proposed signage and map. It would be compatible with all platforms, including Windows, enabling visitors with appointments to identify the correct entrance and locate their appointment room easily.

What are the benefits of the app?

Reduce costs from missed appointments

Integrating digital navigation into your appointment reminder system helps minimize missed appointments. Fewer no-shows lead to substantial long-term cost savings.

Prioritize patient care over giving directions

The app offers clear, easy-to-follow navigation, ensuring visitors reach their destinations without confusion. This reduces interruptions for hospital staff, allowing them to stay focused on delivering quality care to patients who need their attention most.

7th Floor Waiting Room

